KEEP AWAY YOUNG MAN KEEP AWAY

DEAR MISS DIX—I have got engaged to a girl. I don't know how but because I don't love her and don't want to marry her. I know that she would not make me a compassionate wife at all. Besides, I don't want to marry and I'm not in a position to marry if I did want to. I have told the girl that and she threatens to take some very drastic steps if I break the engagement. Can you suggest anything to do?

M. H. D.

Answer:—The girl who is that determined to marry is certainly a formidable proposition and she will get you if you don't watch out.

However, I think the woman who threatens to sue a man for breach of promise if he doesn't marry her isn't half as dangerous as the one who keeps over the lover who has lost his taste for her and tells him now it will break her heart if he leaves her. For the woman who holds the club of the law over a man's head rouses his fighting blood, whereas the one who turns on the weep makes him melt down his backbone and leaves him a willing resistance to a man's power, but no man can resist something with the lady who is about to lose him.

Dorothy Dix

Se, se, be thankful that your fiancée is merely going after you with a law suit or a shotgun and not tear drops. But, anyway, stand firm. Don't let her bludgeon you into marrying her if you don't want to, because marrying is no picnic even at its best and it is a hell on earth at its worst.

I should say in your case the best thing for you to do would be to play a waiting game and simply wear her out. You do not need actually to break the engagement, but you can make it so uninteresting to her and so hopeless of any result that you can make her break it. As long as you are not married to her she has no jurisdiction over you, so you can run around with other girls as much as you please. No has she any power by which she can compel you to make dates with her, so if you just quit cold and never go to see her any more, she can do nothing.

Always you have the perfect virtue that you are not financially able to marry and are in no position to support a family. The depression ought to be good for something. Perhaps it will change your situation. DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—Do you believe a man of 30 has any chance of curing a bad temper? I have a friend who has every line quality except that he has a violent temper and if he ever crosses him he goes into a rage and says and does the most terrible things. He is engaged to a sweet and gentle girl whom I fear he will make very unhappy just because of his temper. Is there any way he can be known? BILL.

Answer:—The man who has a bad temper who ever learned to control it. Instead of regarding it as a fault and a great weakness to lack self-control, they regard it as a virtue and to think that it shows that they are high-spirited and strong. And they always seem to think that everybody should overlook and forgive their faults and to realize that they didn't mean them and be ready to make as good as you can as they are in a good humor.

I think that bad temper is the worst fault that a husband can possibly have. A girl had better marry a drunkard or a gambler or a rascal than a man with a bad temper. She would have more chance of happiness. DOROTHY DIX.

Minute Make-Ups
By V. V.

Fatigue lines on your face often tell the location of your tired lines. Don't neglect them, particularly if you are a woman of the house. Wash your face with warm water and pat an astringent on them or a soothing cream, working with an upward-downward movement. Be sure to put talcum powder between each eye if they have a tendency to puffy.

A felt hat may appear entirely too old for any use. You can put it to a very good use. Cut it into squares and use as pet holders. You can make them look very attractive if you overcoat the edges with wool of a contrasting color. If the felt is very thin, you may have to stitch two squares together.

IODINE CONTENT OF SEA FOOD PREVENTS GOITRE

Inlanders' Diet Should Provide Nutritive Substitute

By SISTER MARY

In some sections of the country goitre is common. The cause is the drinking water, vegetable and grains are so devoid of iodine as to result in a widespread tendency to goitre.

Because the prevention of goitre is primarily a nutritional problem, home-makers are especially interested in foods which are rich in iodine. The only foods that contain significant quantities of iodine are fish, which contains considerable amounts of iodine as well as the common deep-sea fish. The fish which contain iodine are: salmon, tuna, cod, haddock, mackerel, sardines, anchovies, etc.

It is interesting to note that fish contain about twice as much iodine as the most common deep-sea fish. The fish which contain iodine are: salmon, tuna, cod, haddock, mackerel, sardines, anchovies, etc.

Indication Hon. Perren Baker Addresses Meeting Of School Trustees

Enrolment in Provincial
Schools Reached 170,795
Last Year

Indication that school grants may be reduced this year was given by Hon. Perren Baker, minister of education, in addressing the annual convention of the School Trustees Association at the Masonic temple on Wednesday. While not stating definitely that such reduction would be made, the minister said it was a possibility. He also said that last year's total enrolment in provincial schools reached 170,795.

At the present time the annual grant for a one-room school is $180 and is scaled upward according to the number of schools and other provisions. In the total school grants annually amount to about $1,300,000.

The minister, in his address, gave a resume of the entire provincial educational system and pointed out some of the more important questions of minimum salary and teachers' contracts.

35 NEW DISTRICTS
Discussing the progress and development of education in this province, he said that in the last year there had been 35 new districts. This brought the total number of districts up to 7,296. Total number of schools was 5,729, of which 109 had been added in the last year.

Enrolment in elementary and secondary schools had increased 100,000 in the last year. The minister pointed out that the most important development in education was the summer months in high schools, which had increased by 3,800, and that of total high school population by 1,000.

Treating the financial phase of education as at the end of 1931, he said that school assets in this province had increased from $1,000,000 to $1,600,000, showing that the schools have a considerable equity in their property.

Teachers' salaries amounted to $10,000,000 a year. At the end of 1931 were about 10,000 teachers, and at the end of 1932 about 11,000. The minister reported that the percentage of school districts in operation eight months or more, was a new record.

In 1931 schools in operation eight months or more totaled 64.3 per cent of the whole. In 1932, 65.3 per cent of the schools had been in operation 180 days or more, while in 1931 the 1931 record had been beaten by a small margin with 95.7 per cent of the whole in operation for two years.

This, he contended, was ample evidence in support of the effort being made to keep schools open. The 1932 average was the highest in the history of the province. The attendance had been good in 1932. It might improve in 1933.

In further proof of interest taken by students in their school work, he stated that in 1932 that number of 15 years of age and who left school in 1932, totaled 14, while in 1931 the total was three. In 1931 the total was four, and in 1932, three.

He gave other figures for other grades, summing up by stating that in four years there had been an increase in 1932 of 94 pupils as against 93 in 1930, 96 in 1931, and 97 in 1932. This was a new record.

In 1921 there were 886 rural schools in which pupils were enrolled. There were 1948 such schools in 1930. In 1932, 2,000 schools were in operation. The average rural school was 1922-31 was $100,000 in 1930-31 was $100,000 in 1931-32 was $100,000 in 1932-33 was $100,000.

The average for December of 1932 was $100,000, which was a drop of $17,500 below the 1931 average. The average for January, 1933, was $100,000, which was a drop of $17,500 below the 1931 average. The average for February, 1933, was $100,000, which was a drop of $17,500 below the 1931 average.

MISSING MAN

City and province-wide search is being made by police and an insurance company for Enghelbert Lien, last heard of in Edmonton and association at the Masonic temple on Wednesday. While not stating definitely that such reduction would be made, the minister said it was a possibility. He also said that last year's total enrolment in provincial schools reached 170,795.

At the present time the annual grant for a one-room school is $180 and is scaled upward according to the number of schools and other provisions. In the total school grants annually amount to about $1,300,000.

The minister, in his address, gave a resume of the entire provincial educational system and pointed out some of the more important questions of minimum salary and teachers' contracts.

35 NEW DISTRICTS
Discussing the progress and development of education in this province, he said that in the last year there had been 35 new districts. This brought the total number of districts up to 7,296. Total number of schools was 5,729, of which 109 had been added in the last year.

Enrolment in elementary and secondary schools had increased 100,000 in the last year. The minister pointed out that the most important development in education was the summer months in high schools, which had increased by 3,800, and that of total high school population by 1,000.

Treating the financial phase of education as at the end of 1931, he said that school assets in this province had increased from $1,000,000 to $1,600,000, showing that the schools have a considerable equity in their property.

Teachers' salaries amounted to $10,000,000 a year. At the end of 1931 were about 10,000 teachers, and at the end of 1932 about 11,000. The minister reported that the percentage of school districts in operation eight months or more, was a new record.

In 1931 schools in operation eight months or more totaled 64.3 per cent of the whole. In 1932, 65.3 per cent of the schools had been in operation 180 days or more, while in 1931 the 1931 record had been beaten by a small margin with 95.7 per cent of the whole in operation for two years.

This, he contended, was ample evidence in support of the effort being made to keep schools open. The 1932 average was the highest in the history of the province. The attendance had been good in 1932. It might improve in 1933.

In further proof of interest taken by students in their school work, he stated that in 1932 that number of 15 years of age and who left school in 1932, totaled 14, while in 1931 the total was three. In 1931 the total was four, and in 1932, three.

He gave other figures for other grades, summing up by stating that in four years there had been an increase in 1932 of 94 pupils as against 93 in 1930, 96 in 1931, and 97 in 1932. This was a new record.

In 1921 there were 886 rural schools in which pupils were enrolled. There were 1948 such schools in 1930. In 1932, 2,000 schools were in operation. The average rural school was 1922-31 was $100,000 in 1930-31 was $100,000 in 1931-32 was $100,000 in 1932-33 was $100,000.

The average for December of 1932 was $100,000, which was a drop of $17,500 below the 1931 average. The average for January, 1933, was $100,000, which was a drop of $17,500 below the 1931 average. The average for February, 1933, was $100,000, which was a drop of $17,500 below the 1931 average.

NEW CHARGES LAID AGAINST W. ROSS ALGER

Original Charge Amended
After Two New Counts
Preferred

Two new charges were preferred against W. Ross Alger when he appeared before Mr. Justice Ewing this morning in Supreme Criminal Court, and the original charge was amended.

As they now stand, the three charges are: Conspiring to use force between August 15, 1929, and December 19, 1932, amounting to $10,000; converting to his own use fifty shares of "Canada Day" bonds of the value of $10,000; and conspiring with W. Ross Alger, to defraud the public.

Mr. Justice Ewing, in his judgment, said that the original charge was amended after two new counts were preferred.

Judge Stubbs Proves Defiant On Cross Examination

JURIST SHOWS FIGHTING MOOD AT INTERVALS

Shouts at Counsel "I Won't Answer"—Explains No Further

WINNIPEG, Feb. 2.—Only at brief intervals filling the role of the defendant little man who for more than two weeks gave evidence regarding charges of judicial misconduct, Judge Lewis B. George Stubbs Wednesday admitted doing and saying things the attorney general had complained of.

Under cross examination by Arthur Sullivan, K.C., counsel to a commission investigating his judicial conduct, Judge Stubbs claimed anything he had done or said was dictated by him to have been within his province as a judge, "and if I had not I would not have done it," he said simply.

When pressed hard by counsel for replies the judge spasmodically burst into his characteristic fighting mood, but during most of the day he remained in an unusually quiet mood. At times he became indignant and shouted at counsel to tell him "I won't answer," or "I don't care what you think."

ACTIONS EXPLICIT

All his statements and actions were explicit and spoke for themselves, Judge Stubbs maintained, and he could not see the reason for him having to further explain the meaning of them.

Several times counsel and witness gave heated as the former endeavored to prove a "yes or no" to his questions but the judge insisted in replying in his own way and told counsel, "you can say and think what you like."

He refused absolutely to reveal the name of a selector, who, he said, had told him of the disposition by the Court of Appeal of the Macdonald case. Above, you see Colonel J. E. King in uniform as a member of the military staff of the governor, Colonel King, a widow, was the first woman president of San Antonio's school board.

GET NO INFORMATION

Many other such questions failed to elicit any constructive information, the judge holding he did not have to answer or that his actions spoke for themselves.

"I would have thought you were one of the last persons whom executive could have turned into a criminal or coward as you say in your own words," Mr. Sullivan re-

POWERFUL VOICES

Other powerful voices from both parties joined with Borah's to emphasize the wide divergence of view with which the two nations, outwardly at least, are approaching the forthcoming conversations.

Congressional leaders were around particularly over Mr. Chamberlain's statement that "the conception of concessions by Great Britain in return for the ending down of war debts is not a British conception."

"If the British come to the conference in that frame of mind," Senator Reed, Pennsylvania Republican and Hoover administration spokesman, said, "I see no possibility of any conclusion being reached that is acceptable to both nations."

"If any nation supposes that it can, by reason of its cheap currency system, exempt itself from the economic conditions of the world, it is in for a very rough time," said Mr. Borah.

"The judge denied he had any intention of importing corruption by the Court of Appeal judges in the Macdonald case. "My words may be open to that construction," the judge said, "maybe they have defective minds."

"Are you inferring the 11 judges mentioned in the complaint have defective minds and you are the only right one?" demanded counsel.

"Well," the judge added, "I still say I'm right and I meant exactly what I said."

GREAT BRITAIN GIVEN WARNING U.S. ATTITUDE

Cannot Expect Debt Adjustments Without Compensations

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Frank warning from United States Senate leaders that Great Britain cannot expect debt adjustments without providing compensations was issued tonight in response to the statement of Neville Chamberlain, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, that Britain does not regard the approaching debt discussions as "a great swamping deal."

Chairman William E. Borah of the Senate foreign relations committee, sounded the keynote of the reaction on this side of the ocean, with a formal statement that if Britain will not consider other world problems in connection with debt, "we have no alternative but to stand by the debt settlement heretofore made."

HOLLYWOOD GOSSIP

INTIMATE GLIMPSES AND INSIDE STUFF ON THE MOVIE COLONY

By DAN THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 2.—This and that, now it's Katharine Hepburn who is going to take off flying. The young actress has had enough of it in her current film to make her want to pilot a plane later. Ivan Lichner practically never wears a hat. But he wouldn't walk either. For the first time in his career, Ronald Colman is making a picture in which he doesn't kiss his leading lady. So the other day he suggested that they rehearse a love scene anyway just to see the picture would seem authentic. Eliza Landi thought it would be a good idea, too.

Hollywood already has more clout than any other community of its size in the world. But apparently there is a great swamping deal from one more. The latest is the Horner Club, with a membership of actors who have appeared in horror films. Charter members are Boris Karloff, Preston Foster, Fredric March, Lionel Atwill, Bela Lugosi and Edwin Maxwell.

This fan photo business is going too far. Even the dogs are exchanging pictures now. It all started when Edgar Allan Woolf sent a photo of his dog to Ben Monaghan's dog. Then Buster Keaton sent a picture of his dog to Lew Cody's dog. And Jeanette MacDonald sent a reproduction of her dog to Nita Barlow's dog. What next?

Clark Gable is wearing a uniform in his new film, "White Sister." That wouldn't mean much except for the fact that it's the first time he's donned a uniform since he carried a spear in a stage play some years ago. Minor Watson saw a picture of his dog in the footling, gotten in the habit of carrying a pocketful of corn cobs around with him. Gave them away as freely as most people do cigars.

Whenever Myrna Loy wants to hide out, she simply goes down to her garage. Yes, she has a very nicely furnished apartment above it. Marie Dressler, Louise Clouseau and May Robson are about the only three women on the "red" who can boast of never having had a costume fitting. "Well, I'm not," said Marie Dressler, "but my first husband was a tailor."

Vince Barnett was lamenting the other day because he gets ten letters from all over the world but never has had one from his home—and that the city he calls home.

John Darrow once was a page boy in the House of Representatives. And Lee Tracy once was kicked out of a school—literally—for hitting the principal. Pat O'Brien is one actor who doesn't smoke cig-

ELEVATOR DROP KILLS 3 MEN

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 2.—Three men were killed Wednesday when the bottom dropped out of a department store freight elevator and plunged them six stories to the bottom of the shaft.

The accident occurred in the N. Swensberg and company store at 14th and Market streets. The elevator had examined and approved the lift.

Those killed, all employees of the store, were Samuel Thompson, 46, Camden, N.J., the operator; Charles J. Beadie, 18, and Charles Waterford, 42, both of Philadelphia.

Still another loss was that one favoring "this convention go on record as in favor of all schools being freed from paying tuition fees for high school, but that such fees be paid by the provincial treasury in the form of a grant-in-aid to the schools."

Another lost resolution was that, "that school vacation should occur in January and February instead of July and August, because farmers have not money to buy warm clothing for children."

Several other motions were dealt with in the afternoon.

Trustees Approve Scheme Exchanging Examination Papers

Approval of scheme of exchanging examination papers between teachers of different Grade VIII and IX schools for marking was voted in a resolution adopted by the annual convention of Alberta School Trustees in session in Wednesday.

The motion was adopted after a brief discussion.

Another resolution adopted was that "where the Minister approves of a scheme other than the regular vacations, the payment of the teachers' salaries for the period shall be automatically suspended, or in other words, no salary shall be paid for the period."

In explanation of this, Dr. John C. Macdonald, deputy minister of education said that legislation along this line was under consideration by the government.

Most of the resolutions brought forward for discussion were voted down. One lost motion was that ad-and contains brilliant roles for the artists.

Berry Jones plays the burglar-patrolman, while Maurice Colbourne, of whom too little was seen in "The Queen's Husband," plays the staid officer, while the other two are either that of the New York or London production.

Unlike any of his other plays the master dramatist finds his latest miscellany a gripping and compelling and exhilarating play.

CAPITOL

Every now and then a novel, a picture, a play comes along that is so absorbing, so convincing, so tenderly touching that it becomes immediately something to be read, or seen, and enjoyed to the hilt.

This time it's a picture—"Madame Butterfly," which opened last night at the Capitol Theatre where it continues today and Friday. It is the story of a Cho-Cho-San, renowned in song and legend. Now, modernized, given radiant life by a brilliant cast, and set against a glamorous background, the bitter-sweet tale of Butterfly and her lover, the enigmatic Pinkerton takes its place with the most effective of screen dramas, and may win for Sylvia Syms, the star, one of those best-performances which will live in the memory of those who see it.

Clay, a great dark-haired young giant when he is in the mood, and "Blonde Venus," a mermaid more than passing mortal for his work in the difficult role of minkster.

AMUSEMENTS

DREAMLAND

"Careless Lady," a new comedy from Paramount, is the latest hit at the Dreamland theatre. It has nothing of the slapstick about it, but is said to maintain a steady flow of laughs through clever situations and brilliant dialogue. Joan Bennett and John Boal head a notable cast.

PRINCESS

One of America's favorite Broadway columnists, O. O. McIntyre, in a recent list of impressive, "purely personal," named Karen Morley as his favorite among the younger actresses of the screen.

Miss Morley's most recent picture, "The Phantom of Crestwood," is now playing at the Princess theatre.

STRAID

Dramatically timed for release at a moment when the civilized world is still echoing its astonishment at the capture of a great and supposedly one of the world's greatest actors, "The Man from Snowy Mountain," the latest picture of the First National's newest screen sensation opened Wednesday at the Strand theatre with Warren William and Lili Damita in the leading roles.

High finance and high handed methods of romance have almost equally in this thinly disguised paraphrase of the life and career of the most amazing evildoer of the century.

EMPERESS

Randolph Scott, Sally Blane, Fred Kohler, Louise Lathrop, Charles Grapewin and Jim Thorpe, Carlisle Indian football star, play the leading roles in the new motion picture of Kane Grey's popular novel, "Wild Horse Mesa," which opens a three day engagement at the Empress theatre today.

The story centers around Scott, who is engaged in the double task of attempting the capture of a great white stallion, which roams the Arizona mesa, and of the attempts of a band of outlaws to capture and sell the high class horses in their trap.

His task is complicated when the outlaw leader attempts to place the blame for a robbery he has committed on Scott's horse, and when, passing himself off under false colors, he gets into a quarrel and under lock and key in his horse capturing venture.

NEW EMPIRE

While a new play is always an event, particularly as when presented by such clever Shavian stars as Maurice Colbourne and Barry Jones, "Too True To Be Good," the attraction at the Empire theatre next Monday and Tuesday has probably created more interest than any other play from the pen of the master playwright. This, his latest play, is his most provocative and most debated of all his works, but all agree that it contains a wealth of brilliant and stimulating entertainment.

"Too True To Be Good" is elusive in idea and elusive in conception.

Play Begins in City and District Badminton Tourney

THREE EXTRA PERIODS FAIL TO BREAK TIE

LARGE CROWD SEES MATCHES AT ANGLEWOOD

Five Events Produce Exciting Play on Opening Night

Amidst the luxurious surroundings of the exclusive Anglewood club an enthusiastic crowd of spectators viewed the opening day matches yesterday afternoon, as the third annual city and district badminton tourney got under way.

With only a few days close to 100 participants, the present tourney promises to bring to the surface some of the most inspiring play that has ever been witnessed in the history of the game locally.

Five events were staged yesterday including men's single and doubles, ladies singles and doubles and mixed doubles.

The matches were run off in good time without a hitch in the draw and much of the fun was due to the hustling executive of which Mr. MacLean is in charge.

Some of the Advantages Of a Deposit Account

When you have a D.A. (Deposit Account), if shopping in person, you simply say, "Charge to my D.A." give your number, and your purchases are delivered as paid.

When telephoning orders, no money need be left at home for "C.O.D." Your purchases are already paid for by your D.A.

Goods advertised "No C.O.D. orders" may be ordered over the telephone and charged to your D.A. At the end of each month you receive an itemized account of your D.A. purchases, deposits, withdrawals, credit for goods returned, and your balance.

This is extremely useful in budgeting your income, as you know exactly how the money is spent. Deposits or withdrawals may be made any time during business hours.

While your money is on deposit, it is drawing interest on the daily credit balance.

The Deposit Account Department is operated solely as a shopping convenience for our patrons, and this service is open to all EATON Customers.

For further information apply to the D.A. Office, Fourth Floor, Annex.
